

Victory

Whether in war or peace, in joy or sorrow,
in ease or hardship, in calm or anxiety,
give your heart to God and never forget
His remembrance.

This is the secret of victory.

Do not let the daily distractions of the world lead you away from God, nor let its painful sorrows make you neglect Him.

The more we increase remembrance and attention to God within ourselves, the less heedless and distracted we are, bringing the world closer to mercy. This is God's definite promise.

If we remember God by the name "Al-Hayy Al-Qayyum" (The Ever-Living, The Sustainer), we are honored with life and steadfastness.

Abu Abdullah Al-Husayn

"Every day is Ashura, every land is Karbala" We stand against the enemies of God and alongside His friends. We have reached the shrine of Abu Abdullah (peace be upon him) and have separated ourselves from the unfaithful and oppressors. The closer we get to the days of Ashura, the nearer we feel to our Creator. The world does not follow our calculations; in this battlefield, we are destined either for martyrdom or captivity.
What a mighty God this is! Minds are terrified by His will.

Eyes turn to change destiny, but achieve
nothing, falling in sorrow.

Understanding fails to explain such a great calamity.

Illusions turn sighs, prayers, and anxious expressions into astonishment and turmoil.
Above all, every believer wonders: How could God lead so many pure beloved ones to the sacrifice at once?

What a mighty God this is! And how must one witness His action to perceive its beauty?
Karbala and Ashura are the ultimate display of God's pure monotheism—scenes that amaze
thoughts and illusions alike.

Who is this God who allows His Messenger to endure such suffering for the guidance of all the worlds?

Religión y conocimiento

En un mundo donde el engaño y la hipocresía, la mentira y la trampa han reemplazado la verdad, y la oscuridad se considera luz; con una flecha de luz, debemos apuntar al corazón de la oscuridad y generar una explosión de luz; para buscar la luz, debemos levantarnos.

Islam

The era we live in is only a part of time, not all of it. Adam and Eve (peace be upon them) descended and raised the flag of religion on earth, but they faced Cain's betrayal. The flag of monotheism passed hand to hand, prophet to prophet, and the Cains of history were overcome one by one. Today, the flag of monotheism rests on the shoulders of Baqiyatullah (the Remaining of Allah). He is the continuation of the prophets and divine guardians, while the Cains have lined up against him. The flow of truth is continuous; from Adam to Baqiyatullah, it has never been broken, not even for a moment. The call of truth that reaches the oppressed of the world today is the same call of all the oppressed since the beginning of history. And today, we, as part of this current of truth, have become the bearers of the flag of monotheism. This flag has never fallen and is always held high.

Dear God

The code name of our actions today is the name "Aziz" of God—a name that reflects divine strength and power.

God's strength shows itself in how:
an oppressed nation becomes beloved
by all the world;

a great revolution spreads and gains
recognition globally;

unity arises against the enemies of faith;
hypocritical oppressors destroy their
own homes;

the arrogant of the world are humbled;

the world's equations shift to remove
false superpowers;

the faith of men and women is elevated.

The True Mujahid

A true mujahid is one who takes his life, wealth, and everything he possesses in hand and strives solely for God.

Such a person plans to reach his goals and to overcome the enemies of God, never neglecting the plans he has made.

Therefore, a true mujahid maintains effort and persistence in his life plan and never acts against his enemies without knowledge and insight.

A mujahid is a diligent believer, with strong convictions, timely and precise actions, and lofty goals aligned with the Divine Guardian (Wali Allah).

His goals and vision are in harmony with God and the Prophet, emerging from sincere effort, belief, and action.

These goals and vision extend as high and wide as the realm of monotheism.
